Welcome to John Wayne Airport!

Our airport is a very busy and interesting place. You'll see a lot of folks here who are traveling on vacation and for work, but if you look closely, maybe you can find some of the people who work here too. Can you spot a pilot who flies an airplane, or a "sky cap" who helps passengers with their luggage, or even one of our deputies with his four-legged partner (a dog - woof!) who helps keep our visitors safe?

This Activity Book was made just for you. We hope that it teaches you a little about our airport - like what kind of airplanes fly here - and especially about the people who make John Wayne Airport a safe and special place. Inside this book you'll find a maze, a word search, great pictures to color, and even an invitation to have your own artwork posted on JWA's Web site!

We hope you enjoy this book - and your visit to John Wayne Airport. Come back and see us soon!

Every airline paints their planes differently.
If you owned an airline, what would your airplanes look like?

Eddie Martin

"Eddie Martin Airport" was founded in 1923. Years later it became known as Orange County Airport. It was named John Wayne Airport in 1979 by the Orange County Board of Supervisors.

Each alphabet letter has a name pilots and control towers use to be sure they understand each other when they communicate by radio. See if you can spell your name using the Pilot's Alphabet.
